

COOKIE POLICY

1. About this Policy

This Policy explains how SANEX S.A. uses cookies and similar technologies on the www.cesarom.ro website, the categories of information collected, the purposes for which they are used, and the options available to visitors.

The website operator is SANEX S.A., a Romanian legal entity with its registered office in Cluj-Napoca, 1 Beiuşului Street, Cluj County, unique registration code 199028. The Company's up-to-date identification and contact details are also available in the "Contact" section of the website.

2. What Cookies and Similar Technologies Are

Cookies are small files stored on a user's device when the user accesses a website. They enable the browser or device to be recognised, certain preferences to be remembered and, depending on the category accepted, website usage to be measured or marketing communications to be personalised. Similar technologies, such as pixels, tags or local identifiers, may also be used; in this Policy, the term "cookies" includes such technologies.

Cookies may be session cookies, which are deleted when the browser is closed, or persistent cookies, which are retained until they expire or are deleted by the user. They may be placed by SANEX S.A. or by third-party providers integrated into the website.

Separately from cookies, the website's servers may generate technical logs that may include the IP address, date and time of access, the requested resource, the volume of data transmitted, and information about the browser, operating system, device and referring page. This information is used for the operation, administration and security of the website, error diagnosis and incident prevention.

3. Categories of Cookies Used

Strictly necessary cookies. These are required for the operation and security of the website, session management, remembering cookie choices and providing functions requested by the user. They are not used for analytics or advertising purposes and cannot be disabled through the preference panel. Blocking them in the browser may affect the operation of the website.

Analytics and performance cookies. These help us understand how the website is used, including pages visited, traffic sources, interactions and any errors, so that we may assess and improve its performance and content. The information may include online identifiers and technical data and is used only after consent has been obtained.

Advertising and promotional cookies. These may be used to measure campaigns, limit the frequency with which advertisements are displayed, create audience segments and display advertising content tailored to interests inferred from online activity. They may track activity across multiple websites and are used only after consent has been obtained.

4. Consent and Preference Management

Upon the first visit, cookies that are not strictly necessary remain disabled until the user indicates a choice through the cookie banner. The user may accept all optional categories, reject them or select the desired categories individually. Inaction, continued browsing or pre-selected options do not constitute consent.

Consent may be withdrawn or changed at any time, as easily as it was given, through the "Cookie Settings" option available on the website. Withdrawal of consent does not affect the use of cookies before withdrawal or any processing lawfully carried out up to that time. Following withdrawal, optional cookies will no longer be accessed or installed, and the user may delete existing cookies through the browser settings.

Refusing analytics or advertising cookies does not prevent access to the website, although certain non-essential features or the degree of personalisation may be limited.

5. Third-Party Services

Depending on the choices made, the website may use services provided by Google to analyse website usage and services provided by Meta, including Meta Pixel, to measure and personalise advertising. These providers may receive online identifiers, the IP address, device and browser information, as well as data concerning interactions with the website.

Depending on the service used and the technical configuration, third-party providers may process the data on their own behalf or on behalf of SANEX S.A. and may combine it with other information they hold, in accordance with their own policies. Data may also be processed outside the European Economic Area. In such cases, recognised mechanisms for safeguarding international transfers are used, together with additional measures where necessary.

Additional information about the provider, purpose, name of each cookie, storage period and third-party access is available in the "Cookie Settings" panel. The list must at all times reflect the website's actual technical configuration.

6. Retention Period

The duration of each cookie is indicated in the "Cookie Settings" panel and may vary depending on its purpose and provider. Session cookies are generally deleted when the browser is closed, while persistent cookies are retained until their expiry date, until consent is withdrawn, where applicable, or until they are deleted by the user. Technical logs are retained only for as long as necessary for the administration and security of the website, incident resolution and compliance with applicable obligations.

7. Information Security

SANEX S.A. implements appropriate technical and organisational measures to protect information against unauthorised access, loss, destruction, alteration, or accidental or unlawful disclosure. The measures are reviewed in light of the risks, technological developments and the nature of the processing.

8. Users' Rights

Subject to the conditions applicable to each processing activity, users may request access to personal data concerning them, its rectification or erasure, restriction of processing and data portability, and may object to certain processing activities. Consent may be withdrawn at any time. In the event of a personal data breach likely to result in a high risk to the rights and freedoms of individuals, they will be informed in accordance with the applicable requirements.

Users have the right to lodge a complaint with the Romanian National Supervisory Authority for Personal Data Processing. Additional information is available on the www.dataprotection.ro website.
